I have no allergies to any dental adhesives. I have not chosen a tooth that is undergoing dental treatment of any type. I do not have any holes, caps, crowns or venires on the tooth that is having tooth gem attached to.

I understand that it is impossible for the therapist to say how long the tooth gem will last but on average the gem can last from one week to six months but depending on the acidity level in the mouth it could last up to a year.

I understand that I cannot eat, drink or rub my tongue against the tooth gem for the first hour.

I have had a therapist fully explain that I must brush my teeth where the tooth gem is thoroughly. Dental hygiene is very important. I understand that if I wish to remove the tooth gem that all I need to do is use dental floss in a down ward motion away from the gum.

I understand that if I swallow the gem I cannot in any way hold any therapist or PROFILES responsible. I know from my consultation that if I do swallow a gem it will pass through my system naturally.

Profiles do not give refunds on this treatment and a charge will be made for a therapist to remove a tooth gem.

Although PROFILES do their best stop under age clientele, we cannot be held responsible for customer lies and false I.D and some customer looking older than they are.

I the above named have fully read and under stand the home care and time span on the smile gem, my age is true.
